

Asking out

Remember when you saw that shiny new toy you just had to have? Asking someone out is not like that at all. While you may be quite the catch, there are two parts to this dating equation—it's not just up to you whether you two will go out.

Ask with genuine hopefulness, invite an honest response, and see what happens. You wouldn't want to go out with someone who isn't psyched to be with you, right?
