

Domestic Violence Advocacy Day

Frequently Asked Questions

What is Domestic Violence Advocacy Day?

Domestic Violence Advocacy Day is an annual event hosted by the Washington State Coalition Against Domestic Violence. Domestic violence advocates, survivors, community members, and folks who care about domestic violence travel from all over the state to Olympia to learn about budget and policy issues and advocate for survivors with their legislators. It is a fun and easy way to get involved!

What is Domestic Violence Advocacy Day like?

We will meet at the Hotel RL by Red Lion in Olympia to have breakfast and get materials for the day. The morning program provides an overview of Washington's legislative process, logistics for the day, a briefing on important policy issues that affect survivors of domestic violence, and tips on how to guide conversations with legislators. WSCADV will provide fact sheets, talking points, and legislator bios for you to study.

Participants sit with other advocates from their legislative district to talk over their strategy for afternoon appointments. WSCADV staff, lobbyists, and volunteers are available to provide additional information and answer questions.

After lunch everyone heads up to the Capitol to meet with their legislators for afternoon appointments.

How much does it cost?

It's FREE!

Do I have to be an employee of a domestic violence organization or non-profit organization?

NO! We love having community members, survivors, and students join us on Domestic Violence Advocacy Day.

How do I prepare for the day?

We will do our best to prepare you in the morning for your afternoon appointments with your legislators.

If you want to study ahead of time, sign up for our action alerts and visit our website for more information on the bills and budget issues we are tracking and supporting.

Who makes appointments with my legislators?

We do! You just show up and we tell you when and where your appointments will be.

What if I'm coming alone?

WSCADV staff and volunteers are available to accompany folks to their appointments.

What do I do between my appointments?

Appointments can be spread throughout the afternoon, sometimes with long breaks in between. WSCADV staff will be in the Café in the Pritchard Building on the Capitol Campus with snacks and thank you cards. You are encouraged to join us to write thank you notes to your legislators, and tell us how your appointments went.

You can also tour the Capitol Building, or sit in on a committee hearing to learn more about the legislative process.

What should I wear?

Though the morning program and afternoon appointments are inside, you will be spending the afternoon outside moving between buildings. It can be cold and blistery in Olympia during Domestic Violence Advocacy Day so make sure you bring a rain coat or umbrella and wear comfortable shoes.

Please dress professionally for your appointments with legislators.
